Comments from Evaluator :

Talkso is a project to strengthen language learning through school cooperation. It is based on the Cormier language method, named after a Canadian language teacher cofounder of the site mylanguageexchange.com, direct competitor to this project. Learning languages in school is essential for Europe so the need is there. Several questions arise: why a site and not an app? are you technologically innovative and can you provide personalizing learning path to assess both the class and the students' progress? It is very difficult to engage and manage a school's network. What makes you believe you can do it? Are you expert in foreign languages? It is not clear from the indications they give.
