Comaccesso is focusing on accessibility for disabled persons willing to study online. It is an important issue as most of the accessibility policies of apps and sites are done more to comply with rules than to give an adequate service to disabled people. Which type of MOOC can you chose, which type of apps? If I understand correctly this what comaccesso wants to facilitate. To start with they want to facilitate contents themselves, adapting them. Then they want to support creators. It is unclear how this can be sustainable on a wide scale. The project is maybe more oriented towards NGOs and government institutions working on special needs. At this stage it is difficult to see how the OEC can help
